

Our IQaccess on-camera intelligent software makes it easy to know when someone is at the door. With a video intercom you can not only hear that someone is at the door, but check who they are to confirm if you want to let them in. Whenever IQaccess is triggered, a video alert window pops up in every IQaccess enabled Windows® PC and lets the responder perform an action such as: open a door, activate an alarm, turn on lights or control any other device you have connected to your IQeye camera's relay output.

Easy Software Installation

IQaccess is simple to install and operate - simply install the client software and register the camera and you're done!

Most Popular Applications

IQaccess is perfect as a remote attendant and notification tool to alert the staff when a client or customer is waiting or is somewhere they shouldn't be. It's also a perfect tool for verifying who is at the door before letting them in. Key applications include educational facilities, retail shops, healthcare facilities and campuses, hotel front desk, corporate offices and loading docks.
